

BUCHTEL PARK APARTMENTS

The Entry System

When a guest arrives at the locked entrance, they push the start/stop button and push the "code number" adjacent to the resident's name on the directory.

The system automatically dials the telephone number associated with that code. If the resident wishes to let the guest in, the resident touches the "0" button (the Operator button) on their residence phone.

An "0" will appear in the display and "beeps" will be heard by the resident indicating the locked entrance is now locked.

Please let the office know when you get your new telephone number. Maintenance needs it to get you coded into the entry system.
